- Each indicator listed begins with the indicator reference code and number. For example: CI1 (Consumer Interview Indicator #1). Immediately after the indicator reference code and number is the actual indicator language, in black type:

For example:                      CI 1                      Are you happy with where you live?

- Listed below the indicator, in red type, is the interpretive guideline.

For example:                      CI 1                      Are you happy with where you live?

The intent of this indicator is to determine the person's level of satisfaction with his or her life experience in the home. Tell me about your home. How long have you lived here? What are the things you like about living here? What things do you not like? If you're not happy here, what would make you happy? If you don't like where you live, what don't you like about it? When interviewing, an individual may be reluctant to speak negatively about others (e.g., people living with them at home, staff, family members) or their life circumstances.

- Listed below the interpretive guidelines, in blue type, are the applicable service type(s). Not all indicators are applicable to all service type(s); therefore, it is important to reference the service type designations for each indicator. Note: Indicators have also been sorted according to service type which allows the viewer to see which indicators are required for each service type, for example CLA, DSO, SEI etc.
